Presidents Message...Mike Reese

July is here and it didn't fail to bring its triple digit temperatures. Normally this is the start of the monsoon season along with lightening fires! Area 23 has already seen its share of fires this season and it finally got some rain as well. For those who were fortunate enough to draw deer or elk tags in Lincoln County, I strongly suggest you do a lot of pre scouting. I'd check out the water holes as some have little to no water! Some guzzlers did get some rain but with the hot temperatures that water may not last. I have seen some doves and seen some quail with the little ones in tow but as history has shown us that the week before dove season opens, they move out. I'm planning to join the group for the Yuma dove hunt this year in hopes of getting some good shooting in. This will be my first time joining the club as the season doesn't open until Wednesday Sept 1st and it will give me time to get home and back up to Lincoln County for the Labor Day festivities. Our family has been to those festivities for the last 30 plus years and it's kind of hard to break that tradition! It's during this time that we also go scouting and search for those big bulls that are bugling. It's also during these scouting trips that I have noticed a sharp and gradual decline in or states mule deer population!! I used to be able to find hundreds of nice bucks and now its only dozens if even that. It boggles my mind that we have more coyotes in the state than mule deer, twice as many horses as antelope, almost 4 times more horses than elk and they are 60% the population of deer! I hope that puts into perspective of how over populated the horses are!! It also boggles my mind that the agency in charge of managing our wildlife is contemplating outlawing coyote calling contest when they already outnumber deer and to make this more lopsided a deer generally produces 2 fawns while a coyote generally produces 6-8 pups which mean the young coyotes outnumber the fawns by a 4 to 1 margin. I'm glad some members stepped to the plate and emailed the wildlife commission about this atrocity! At the last meeting in Winnemucca a bus load of anti-hunters showed up and voiced their objections to the calling contests. The commission didn't take a vote as they wanted to discuss it further.

With July being a tradition month and most of us celebrating the 4th of July, there is groups wanting to change the color and the look of our flag. Hell they even want to abolish the word independence day!! Incase you haven't noticed our core values are under attack. Who thinks we should give up hunting and fishing as core values?

Brian Patterson and I want to humbly thank the club for sending us on a fly- fishing trip to Beaver Utah! We drove for 6 hours that day and we fished for 6 hours. We not only had a great time fishing but we also tried to help solve the worlds problems. The conclusion we came to during our long discussion is what are we willing to give up as sportsmen and as Americans. The answer was a resounding.....not a damn thing! We are in hopes that Woods and Waters members feel the same way!

August Angler of the Year Event

The Las Vegas Woods & Waters August 18, 2021 Angler event will be totally new: Casting - dry land style! This is a first time event that will add a little time to our desert drought plagued fishing season. No boats, no guides, not even water. No disappointments for weather, stocking density, lake level, etc. We will start early 7-8ish at a local city park (TBD).. Casting accuracy will be the order of the day. Distance, speed, and accuracy will be judged. Following the Brian Patterson model, the course will have some pretty creative ways to win, lose, or be embarrassed. Spinning or casting rods and reels up to 12 lbs. will be provided, or bring your own (up to 12 lbs. rating, no line restrictions). There will also be fly casting. Time to learn, get some pointers, and PRACTICE UP! Honcho Ralph Willits. Thanks Ralph for thinking outside the box and coming up with a new event to try.

Black Powder Shoot Results

Another day to smell the powder and try something a bit different. This year we elected to shoot a round ball down range rather than our typical conical sabot bullets. As the honcho, I had never shot a round ball before. I covered the target stands with fresh paper so we would be able to see a fresh mark on the 4'x4' target board, even if we missed the actual target. (spoiler alert, I missed my target with every shot). Not knowing where the round balls would go and extending the distance to 100 yards I allowed the use of a steady rest from the bench to hopefully get us on paper. I also included 1 sabot for each shooter along with 4 roundballs. 5 shots per person.

We had 18 shooters. Even with the benefit of the sabot 1/3 of the shooters posted a score of ZERO, me included. How can you miss a 4'x4' target stand from 100 yards? Some of us did. The actual target was roughly 14"x14" stapled to the larger target stand. My target after the shoot was as fresh as when the day started. My first shot with the sabot was some 2 feet low and 1.5 feet to the right? It was all user error as I loaned my gun to Carl Jamison for the shoot and he won $80 in the Lewis Class.

First place went to Michael Reese by getting two shots on target! This is the same Michael that had a muzzleloader elk hunt last fall and shot 5-6-7-8 times at elk and came home with tag soup? I guess a year of experience and thinking back at those misses helped. Or maybe he should have been using round balls for his elk hunt. 2nd place tie went to Joey Kauffman and new member Eric Nielson, 3rd to Jeff Bryant, 4th Dan Zelna, tie for 5th Mike Reese and Jeff Jorgensen, 6th Carl Jamison, 7th Ralph Willits, 8th Tony Perkins all others received 1 Marksman of the Year point.

Lewis Class winners were Michael Reese $80, Kauffman & Nielson $20 each and $20 to Jeff Bryant in the first flight. The second flight was Carl Jamison $80, Willits $40 and a 3 way tie each splitting the $20 pool and getting $5 were Mike Lussier, Tony Perkins and Hubert Von derBeeck.

I would like to say the shoot was fun, and it was, sort of, but we will not be shooting roundballs again...at least not for a while or not at 100 yards. I've been the honcho for the black powder event over 15 years now and I try to mix up the shoot to keep it interesting and fun....it's more fun to hit your target than simply guess where to aim after missing one shot after another. We have enough supplies on hand for next year (minus the 209 primers) I'm hoping by next summer they will be more on the shelves. Once again a borrowed gun was able to get Marksman of the Year points and cash in on the Lewis Class money....proof that the guy behind the gun matters more than the gun itself. I hope to see you next year on the range with a slightly different format.

THANK YOU....Mike Reese & Brian Patterson

Mike and I would really like to thank the entire membership for the generous gift/opportunity to fish the Beaver River with Steve Dawson at Circle Valley Anglers. The date was selected (June 24) and we drove up to meet with Steve in Cedar City before heading to the private ranch and private stretch of the Beaver River. The owner of the ranch has a very special place, he is the first property on the outlet side of Minersville Reservoir. As a hunter and helicopter pilot we got to see some of his mounts and the chopper in his garage.

I always like to learn something new and was excited to pick the brain of our guide Steve. I recently started to learn the art of euro style nymph fishing and Steve was able to get me set up and trying the totally different type of fly fishing. I had 4 fish to the net in pretty short order even with my terrible awkward form at getting the fly in the water. Mike was trying spinners in the next bend in the river. Steve soon had him fishing with flies from his spinning tackle, I think that's when Mike started to catch a few fish.

We didn't catch some of the bigger 18-20" lunkers that we saw but we got some healthy fighters and had a great time. The photo above may look like Mike's fish is bigger than the one I got but ask him about how many I caught vs him 😊. We both learned a new type of fishing and had a great time!!!! Thank you so much.

Boy Scout troop 130 Summer Camp Update - patches and shirts

Our summer camp was from June 13-19. We started out traveling to Great Basin National Park. Our travels then took us to Cave Lake and the Ward Charcoal Ovens. We did some star gazing, fishing, and kayaking. We then journeyed to Spring Valley State Park where we continued fishing and added bird and mammal study to our tasks and filled in our time with crafts like basket weaving and wood carving. Despite losing the bearings on our trailer, our scouts were able to visit Echo Canyon, Kershaw-Ryan, Cathedral Gorge, and Beaver Dam State Parks with a stop over at the Trilobite site for good measure. We stopped at the Knotty Pine in Caliente for lunch and some homemade pie - a Troop 130 tradition. We packed up and headed back for Las Vegas, but we were far from done. We stopped off and visited the Old Mormon Fort State Park on our way down to Big Bend State Park where we wrapped up our adventure with a morning of canoeing. All told, we traveled 1500 miles, visited one National Park and nine State Parks, and awarded more than 75 merit badges to seven scouts. More importantly we had some very happy scouts at the end of our nomadic summer camp.

Bragging Rights On the Line

There are lots of new names on the leader board for Marksman, Angler and All Around. There are some very tight races with only a few events left this year. Angler of the Year has one more event, new this year will be a "Dry Land Casting" competition in August. Currently there are 3 guys with a mathematical chance to win it all Ron Stoker, Brian Burris and Ken Johnson are all in the top running for Angler of the Year. For Marksman of the Year the field is WIDE open with 4 events remaining. There are 7 guys within 8 points of the lead so just one event will shake up the standings. Likewise with the All Around, we have never had such a tight race, there are 10 guys within 10 points of the lead. A lot can happen between now and December when the 3 Gun Shoot takes place. Most years it comes down to this final event to crown the winner of the Marksman race but it will most certainly have more riding on that event this year as the All Around looks to be up for grabs as well.

It's great to see the excitement of new members getting their names at the tops of the leader boards, have the old guns lost a step? Are the new guys that much better? Who will win bragging rights for a year and a shiny new belt buckle for top honors? See the current standings on page 7. Winners will be crowned at the banquet in February.
